- Books (oldest to most recent):
1. Loglan 1, 1975 hardcover – 2 copies
  2. Loglan 4 and 5, 1975 hardcover – 2 copies
  3. Loglan 1, 1975, trade paperback, 2 copies
  4. Loglan 4 and 5, 1975, trade paperback, 3 copies
  5. Loglan 1, 1989, trade paperback, 2 copies. Of these documents, only this one is “official”, but the 1975 edition is of serious interest as a statement of intent. See statement below under NB3.

Reports (most recent to oldest): NB3: Notebook 3, The Present State of the Loglan Language, 1987: an original and a photocopy. This has also been scanned and OCR’ed. It is the official view of the Institute that nothing prior to NB3 is “official”: NB3, the latest dictionaries, and Loglan ’89 (with appendix H in the online version) give as complete a picture of the language as it came to us as we can get.

NB1 and NB2: I have one copy of these two documents in a green folder, and some somewhat defective copies of this material from the Faith Rich Papers in Chicago. This material must be photocopied and scanned. It is not authoritative, but provides a valuable window into the history of the project.

1. Notebook 1: the Machine Grammar and Corpus of Loglan, 1982
2. Notebook 2: A Proposed Revision in the Structure of Loglan Words, 1982

Loglan 3: 1-3 Learning Loglan: 1978, 1980 A small booklet and a manuscript of all or part of it.

Periodicals:

The Loglanist (originally La Loglentan, later La Logli) :

I have complete holdings of this, the main periodical of the Institute.

3. La Logli, 02/1 two copies First Visit to Loglandia, a novel, by Alex Leith

Lognet :

newsletters as opposed to substantial magazines from various periods

My holdings for the last Lognet series are incomplete: I indicate my lacks by comparing with the web page. Much of what I dont have can be seen on the official Loglan page www.loglan.org.

1. Le Logla Cmata, Dec 1978. I think there may only ever have been one issue.
2. Lognet 87 March 87 no 1
3. Lognet 87 June 1987 no 2
4. Lognet 88 May 1988 no 1. The editorial promises some discussion of the Split.
5. Lognet 89/1 2 copies
6. I do not have 90/1 or 90/2 (I now have a PDF of 90/2)
7. Lognet 90/3
8. I do not have any of the four issues from 1991
9. I do not have any of the three issues from 1992 (I now have a PDF of 92/1)
10. I do not have 93/1 or 93/3 or 93/4. (I now have a PDF of 93/1)
11. Lognet 93/2
12. Lognet 94/1
13. Lognet 94/2
14. I do not have 94/3

15. Lognet 95/1
16. Lognet 95/2
17. Lognet 96/1 2 copies
18. Lognet 96/2 two copies
19. Lognet 96/3
20. Lognet 97/1 two copies
21. Lognet 97/2 two copies
22. Lognet 98/1
23. Lognet 99/1 two copies
24. Lognet 00/1 two copies

Miscellaneous :

I may add more comments about these items (mostly correspondence).
